

HUMBOLDT COUNTY
MIOCR Comprehensive Community Treatment Program – ($700,000 grant)

The Comprehensive Community Treatment (CCT) program is anchored in the evidence-based Assertive Community Treatment model but is also custom-tailored to address the unique needs in rural Humboldt County. The core of the program is the multi-disciplinary team that serves as the clients' link to a coordinated continuum of care, beginning with jail discharge planning and continuing with comprehensive community-based treatment and support services. The CCT team, which includes mental health clinicians, a psychiatrist, psychiatric nurse, peer specialist, and case manager, provides treatment and support seven days a week to participants, who can access crisis services on a 24/7 basis.

Following program admission, each participant is assigned a "personal team" comprised of clinical and case management staff that works with the client and his/her family in developing an individualized treatment plan based on a comprehensive needs assessment. Services include individual/family counseling, medication, assistance with transportation, employment and housing, support for substance abuse recovery, and specialized education in such areas as anger management, social functioning and independent living.

A key component of the project is the MIOCR Court, which involves the active participation of Superior Court Judge Feeney and representatives from the offices of the District Attorney, Public Defender, and Conflict Counsel. This bi-monthly court goes "on the road" to meet with clients in community service locations for the purpose of tracking and evaluating progress and treatment compliance.

The CCT team is part of a larger Forensic Team that includes the individuals involved in the MIOCR Court as well as jail and probation staff. With input from CCT staff, the Forensic Team evaluates and selects participants for the project, which will serve an estimated 25 mentally ill offenders.
